11a

A diagram showing a stepped profile within a rectangular frame. The profile is defined by a dashed line. It starts at the bottom-left corner, moves vertically up to a certain height, then horizontally right to a certain width, then vertically up to a higher height, and finally horizontally right to the right edge of the frame. Three labels with leader lines point to specific features: '12a' points to the bottom horizontal segment, '13a' points to the right vertical segment, and '14a' points to the top horizontal segment.
